COVID-19 Vaccinations for Age 50+ in Additional Sectors

Stanislaus County – Stanislaus County Public Health will continue vaccinating individuals over the age 65 and those over age 50 in the food and agriculture, education, and emergency services sectors starting February 22nd, 2021. As Stanislaus County continues to expand its capacity to administer the vaccine, vaccine supply allocations from the State remain limited.

To provide accessibility to residents in Stanislaus County, four high volume mass vaccination clinics are operating in cities of Modesto, Turlock, Patterson, and Oakdale. The County is also working on a Mobile Vaccination Unit to make accessibility to the COVID-19 vaccine as convenient and equitable as possible, particularly in neighborhoods that were impacted most by the pandemic.

While the County is working on vaccinating as many residents as possible, it is still critical that all residents continue to follow the recommendations to wear a mask, avoid gatherings, wash hands often, stay 6 feet from others whenever in public places, and get tested if exposed or experiencing symptoms. These steps, along with vaccines, are essential in ending the pandemic by stopping the spread of COVID-19 and protecting the community.

Vaccines are available to residents regardless of health coverage or provider status. Proof of employment or residency in Stanislaus County is required. Community members are encouraged to visit www.schsa.org/coronavirus for more information. Vaccines and clinic related updates will also be posted on StanEmergency social media platforms.
